

Bias versus Science: The US Response to the COVID-19 Pandemic 2020

Samuel J. Stratton

This presentation will address the impact of pseudoscience and misinformation upon the US response to the COVID-19 Pandemic. While there have been effective applications of objective evidence in managing the event, there have also been actions that lack objective science support resulting in one of the highly developed nations of the world having poor results in preventing COVID-19 infections and deaths.